In speaking about the Top 10 recognition program, Jeff Cates, President and CEO of Intuit Canada stated "The cloud, automation and artificial intelligence are enabling bookkeepers to provide more value to their customers than ever before. The implications of these changes are massive. Skill sets and the very business models that bookkeepers have been using since before the abacus are being updated and modernized. These kinds of changes can be daunting. The industry is fortunate to have access to a group of amazing thought leaders. We are proud to help recognize the trailblazers who are having such a profound impact on the Canadian small business landscape."
